CASE 2

- A big company working on the field of vision needs some material to be used as a “glue”. The material should be compatible with ocular tissues
- On the other hand we have a research group working on adhesive materials.

CASE 3

- A research group has the technology to produce some medicine. The technology is protected and several big companies have shown interest. The medicine could be a “revolution”.
- Very competitive market
- Big investment needed to get to market

CASE 4

- A research group has developed a method to isolate a pharma entity in a more cheaper way than traditional. Protection is being studied at the moment.
- The TTO has contacted different pharma companies willing to buy the entities (since they are cheaper, they can reduce costs)
